"We're thrilled to welcome Erin to the team," said Stephane Kasriel, CEO of Upwork and co-chair of the World Economic Forum's Council on the New Social Contract. "Our mission is to create economic opportunities so people have better lives, and having Erin on board to drive our diversity, inclusion, and belonging efforts, and challenge us actively and often, will help us tremendously on this journey."

"Erin's passion for creating positive change and helping companies become the organizations to which they aspire is contagious," said Zoë Harte, Senior Vice President of Human Resources and Talent Innovation. "That energy, paired with her work advising some remarkable companies as they progress on this journey, is an ideal fit to oversee Upwork's DIBs efforts. Upwork is committed to being a place where people bring their whole selves to work. We know that there is strength in diversity and active collaboration and I am eager to partner with Erin to elevate our programs and help our initiatives evolve to make Upwork all that we can be."

"I'm ecstatic to join Upwork during this time in the company's growth," said Thomas. "Diversity, inclusion, and belonging are intrinsically linked with Upwork's mission and vision, which means that we have an opportunity — and responsibility — to define the future of work by putting people and their experiences first. To realize 'work without limits,' Upwork has committed to cultivating a strong, values-based culture. My role is to operationalize this commitment so that intent translates to impact and aspirations convert to actions."

Prior to Paradigm, Thomas held positions at Grant Thornton LLP and Argonne National Laboratory developing D&I strategies, programming, and metrics. Her work has been featured in Fast Company and the New York Times and recognized by Forbes, Human Rights Campaign, the National Association for Female Executives, and Equal Opportunity Magazine. She has a Doctor of Philosophy in social psychology; a Master of Philosophy in social psychology; a Master of Science in social psychology; and a Bachelor of Arts in psychology and international studies from Yale University.
